The ancient world and modern technology collide when rare-book restorer Sara Rosario Gonzales comes across a 16th-century folio that she believes may unlock the secrets of a heritage consumed by fire and buried long ago. The narrative of an Aztec slave girl who was brought to Europe as a gift, it describes her life as an adventurer, a concubine, and an assassin. While this fairy tale of murder and magic draws Sara ever deeper into its elusive beauty, the outside world, including the man she has loved since high school, begins to slowly pass her by. In order to understand her mother's legacy, Sara must prove that the text is fact, not fiction, the memoir of a girl who has hidden her true and secret name. And to find the way to her own future and claim her lost love, Sara must relearn the past, and in doing so she makes a discovery of incredible proportions.
