A Note About A Few Of The Many Different Assignments Included: There are three writing assignments in this unit, each with the purpose of informing, persuading, or expressing personal opinions. The detailed writing assignment sheets guide students through the assignments. In the first writing assignment, students write to inform; it is their written report about their cities pfoject. The second writing assignment is creative: students create an episode to add to Travels With Charley. The third writing assignment is both creative and persuasive. Students write an episode to add to the book, but this time the episode has to be Steinbecks encounter with a Cheerleader, persuading her to change her attitudes. There is a group project in this unit. Students choose a city in America, research a variety of aspects about that city, prepare a written report for grading, and give an oral report to the class. These reports can easily be compiled into a published booklet for all the students to have. Uses: These materials are geared for whole class use but are very easily adaped for independent study work, lit circles or book groups, home school use, or tutoring. If you have never taught this book before, this manual will give you a great foundation of materials on a variety of levels. If you have taught this book before,
